

RECEIVED
CENTRAL FAX CENTER

MAY 06 2008

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A motor driven compressor constituted such that refrigerant is fed from a swash plate chamber partially into a suction chamber of a front housing via a motor room and partially into a suction chamber of a rear housing in order to improve the cooling efficiency of an electric motor and the entire performance of the compressor while efficiently lubricating sliding components of the swash plate chamber thereby improving durability.